

Style

NEWS-ROOM CHIC

Christine Ebersole is the co-president of Amazon in California

One of my biggest challenges since joining Scripps was when the news broke about David Beckham moving to L.A. I never thought I'd be talking on air about football for three hours! Ebersole and the hosts are great. The only bad thing is the early mornings. I get up at 5am and lots of coffee and tons of make-up later. I appear on screen, hopefully looking awake!

For work I need an understated, elegant look, but my personal style is very casual. At home, I'm usually in jeans. I was aware of ethical fashion but I'm surprised at the range available. I love this dress. I want it! You could wear it to a wedding and feel good about where it's come from.

SHIRAZ, SUE NIEMI (20)
WESTCOTT, ROSEMARIE, GAIN-ONE

SHIRAZ'S FROM SHIRAZ
SHIRAZ: 40% 100%
"The jacket's a great way to stretch up the dress for work."

SHIRAZ'S FROM SHIRAZ
SHIRAZ: 40% 100%
"I love this dress. I want it! You could wear it to a wedding."

SHIRAZ'S FROM SHIRAZ
SHIRAZ: 40% 100%
"Many of us buy organic food now. I think the same thing will happen for fashion."

SHIRAZ'S FROM SHIRAZ
SHIRAZ: 40% 100%
"I've taken to love with these clothes. They're classy but I feel quite dressed up."

ROAD-TRIP TRENDY

Carol Vorderman is making waves in the States with her show Dead Famous

We have a great time on Dead Famous. As well as hunting for spirits, we visit places where famous people used to hang out and discover amazing things about their lives. Though I work with a psychic on the show, I'm still a bit cynical about them. They told me everything about my future apart from one major thing - that I'd have a baby

SHIRAZ'S FROM SHIRAZ
SHIRAZ: 40% 100%
"I've always been aware of environmental issues. Fairtrade makes perfect sense to me."

before I was 30!

On the show I don't wear plain outfits - the thought of dressing up is a pain in the butt so far as I'm concerned, so I like the fact that this outfit is understated and laid back.

I've been out to Uganda as an ambassador for Fairtrade (fairtrade.org.uk), so I'm very interested in ethical fashion. It may cost a little more, but no one's been slaving away in a sweatshop and getting paid nothing for it.

SHIRAZ'S FROM SHIRAZ

SHIRAZ: 40% 100%
WESTCOTT, ROSEMARIE, GAIN-ONE

SHIRAZ'S FROM SHIRAZ
SHIRAZ: 40% 100%
"The boots are fab and really cleanse up the look."

More ways to be green and gorgeous

If you're looking for baby clothes, check out Mums & Dads organic babywear. It's cute - and kind too.

In 2020 there will be an EU-wide ban on animal testing of cosmetics, but until then The Women Cosmetics Standard is the only internationally recognised scheme that ensures that top animal testing has taken place, so look for their logo on products.

Pine oil is used in lipsticks, soaps, pens and hair care products, but it's manufactured out of destruction of rainforests. Look out for companies with a source sustainability code of, such as The Body Shop.